

Education

Degree: M.D. (honors)

Board of Family Medicine, Thai Medical Council

Fellowship of Clinical Scientist Association, USA (invited)

Fellowship of International Society of Gene therapy and Molecular biology (invited)

Fellowship of International Society of Cancer Therapy (invited)

Membership of European Society of Pediatric Nutrition (invited)

Nominated by Marquis Who's Who Records

Biography

Dr. Viroj Wiwanitkit is presently working as a professor in Hainan Medical University, Thailand. He is an Editorial Board member in various international journals. He has received many academic honors. He has more than 1500 publications in International Journals and has given more than 150 presentations in international congress.

Research Interest

Tropical medicine

Laboratory science (biomedical)

Nano science and nanotechnology

Bioinformatics and medical engineering

Family medicine

Social medicine

Public health

Professional Activities:

Special academic and honors

Invited reviewer of many regional and international medical and science journals

Invited speaker in many International Congress

Editor in chief of more than 10 international journals

Editorial board of more than 60 international journals

The world scientist with the most numbers of international publications as the first author

Invited lecturer for many universities in Thailand and other countries

The author with the 1st global rank with the most number of international publication as the first author

Researches and publications

More than 1,500 publications in the international journal (in science and medicine index such as Scopus, PubMed, Medline, ChemAbstract and ISI)

More than 150 presentations in international congress (as Key note Speaker and Session Speaker)

Invited chapters in many international textbooks (more than 150)

Many textbooks in Thailand and International level (more than 30)